3000 Attend First '55 Reg Dance

Approximately 3000 students attended the winter quarter registration dance Monday night at the Civic Auditorium.

Buddy King and his band furnished music for the affair, sponsored by the Social Affairs Committee.

Cold weather and winter breezes were blamed for poor attendance of the "Bermuda" crowd. The weather, however, did not deter the usual number of Santa Clara University students who quarterly invade the dance. The dancers were quieter than the fall registration dance crowd which overflowed the auditorium.

The Social Affairs committee is making plans now for Wintermist formal dance in February, according to Jim Cottrell, committee chairman.

Theater Rate Card Sales Will Continue

Student privilege cards, which allow SJS students a special rate to three major San Jose theaters, will be on sale in the Outer Quad until Friday.

Price is 50 cents. Bob Weiss, sales chairman, again urges all students to take advantage of this opportunity to save money when going to the show.

The privilege cards are valid at the United Artists, Fox California and Studio theaters.

Reg Booklet Hold Works; Students Pay Library Fines

The 120 students whose registration booklets were held back because of unpaid library fines took the situation to heart and streamed in to pay them, according to Miss Donna Bornman, circulation librarian.

Only 22 students had not paid by 12 noon yesterday and most of those had not reported to register yet. The withholding of booklets has proven very effective in the collection of the delinquent fines, reports Miss Bornman.

The stiffer measures are being taken this quarter to lessen the policing duties of the library staff, according to Miss Joyce Backus, college librarian.

Those students whose fines were unpaid by 4 p. m. yesterday must pay the $2 late registration fee also.

Must Apply

SJS students who expect to be graduated or to receive teaching credentials in March must apply in the Registrar's office before Jan. 13. Deadline for the June graduates to apply is the end of the Winter quarter.

Spartacamp Sign-ups Continue --Approximately 40 Register

Sign-ups for Spartacamp, campus leadership training ground, will continue this week probably until Friday, B. J. Bailey, committee member announced yesterday. The camp will be held Jan. 29-30 at Asilomar.

Approximately 40 students had signed up by yesterday for the conference. Attendance at the camp is limited to approximately 120, according to Miss Bailey.

She stressed the fact that the conclave is planned for prospective rather than present leaders and urged all new students especially to attend.

The $9 fee covering food, lodging and transportation may be paid now or by Jan. 12 at the Graduate Manager's office, according to Miss Bailey.

pan for war reparations, agreed to pay the Tokyo government $2,000,000 for loss to life and property during last year's hydrogen experiments in the Pacific.

Enrollment Figures Fall; Procedure Speeded Up

Registration totals at noon yesterday showed 7016 students had enrolled for winter quarter, and 75 more are expected this week.

But also as expected this total fell about 600 students below last quarter's enrollment figure at the same time.

Glen E. Gutfomisen, accounting officer, released the figures after his office had finished the regular booklet distribution at noon.

With the incoming students and the 50 expected to drop school within the next two weeks the final total will be slightly over the estimated 7000 students expected.

Gov. Goodwin J. Knight said today his new budget will recommend a considerably higher enrollment for San Jose State College than its presently authorized 6400 full-time students.

Knight told a news conference he recognizes the "great pressure" at San Jose State for expansion.

"I intend to recommend in my budget maximum enrollment figures for every state college," he said. "San Jose State's figure will be considerably bigger than it is now."

Limited students may register during the day, and from 7 to 9 p. m. tonight, Thursday and Monday and Tuesday nights of next week in the Accounting office.

Jan. 10 at 5 p. m. is the deadline for late registration.

Students went through registering process in the Registrar's Book room faster than ever. This came about, according to Gutfomisen, because of a "few slight changes in the registering methods." No additional persons were employed.

The first change which speeded the process was the printing of the student body numbers on the registration booklets the same time the number was printed on the student body card.

The second change eliminated the spelling out of "eighteen dollars" on the receipt.

Fifty students were placed in the last group, which registered at 11 o'clock yesterday morning, mainly for being deficient in library fees or admission requirements.

Spirit Boosters Attend COP Tilt

A full troupe of spirit boosters, including an 18-piece pep band, song girls and yell leaders will be on hand for the COP game in Stockton tonight, Shunji Ito, Rally committee chief announced yesterday.

Half-time entertainment planned by COP is to be a joint performance by the COP and SJS song girls, Ito said. The game will be televised over channel 13.

The band bus will leave at 5:30 p. m. Ito said. Student director for the band is Hank Smith.

State Awards I-Beam Contract To San Jose Construction Firm

The contract to put in the I-beams above the stage of the Little Theater in the new Speech and Drama building was let recently to a local firm.

It was part of an $8874 contract for alterations and additions to the building awarded the Bridges Construction Co. of San Jose by the State Department of Public Works.

The four beams that support scenery were left out when the building was completed.

Also included in the contract

'Have Plenty Campuses' Board Says

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 4 (UP) — The State Board of Education stated today California has enough state college and university campuses to take care of higher education until 1965.

The board made this recommendation, which will be forwarded to the Legislature, after it studied a report of its representatives on a Liaison Committee set up with the Regents of the University of California.

Economical operation of large campuses and service to "centers of high population" were reasons for the reversal. The committee said "potential enrollments should be cared for by expanding existing campuses."

The reversal changed a policy adopted in 1945 which restricted state college enrollments to 5000 students and to build new colleges as needed. There now are 10 state colleges.

The Board considered a proposal that would call for state colleges to admit qualified students on a first-come, first-served basis. Action on the plan was postponed until the next board meeting.

Dr. Roy E. Simpson, superintendent of public instruction, said arbitrary control over student body enrollments soon would be necessary because of lack of facilities and competent instructors and shortages of funds.

State school enrollments were placed at 2 million. Another 1 million students are expected to enter in the next five or six years.

Included among proposals for legislative consideration will be another review of California's educational needs in 1960 plus further study by all state-supported colleges of student characteristics, admission practices and transfer procedures.

Second Escapee Found in Office

A four-lined chicken snake, the second member of a two-snake cage break that made good their escape over the Christmas weekend, was found hiding Monday in an office in the Science building near the cage area.

The first escapee, a 6 ft. 2 in. indigo, was recovered a week before.

are additional heads for the building's sprinkler system and runways to the stage.

The new campus outdoor lights will not be ready by the original Jan. 12 completion date, according to George J. Dieterle, campus construction supervisor for the State Division of Architecture. A delay in the delivery of a transformer is holding up installation of the lights, he said. Dieterle did not know when the work will be finished.

An Ad that Never Runs

Wanted: Student leaders.

This ad has never actually run but there have been several times in the past when it might have—election times for example, when the slate of candidates looked as if somebody had taken a healthy swipe at it with a wide eraser. Only thing is, there just wasn't a satisfying number of prospective office holders there in the first place.

A giant step forward towards filling in the blank spots on election forms will be taken Jan. 29 and 30 when Spartacamp celebrates its second birthday and does it up in a new idea, that of preparing new leaders rather than coordinating the work of the present few.

The camp, a two-day session filled principally with student discussions, some of them led by the present campus VIP's, is open to any and all students for a nominal sum. It won't automatically fill a campus roster of trained, eager leaders, but it may be the ignition point for several students who could, but otherwise wouldn't be, running for responsible campus positions.

If you would like to be in student government, if you think you have the ability to be, if the conference sounds like fun—in fact, if an interested bone itches anywhere in your body, try to attend the conference.

After all, you too, can be president.

Loeffler Slates First Try-outs For Winter Drama Productions

Miss Loeffler will direct "My Three Angels," while Dr. James Clancy will handle the cast for the second play.

The third show slated for the quarter is the children's favorite, "Little Red Riding Hood," which may go on tour, according to Miss Loeffler. The play was written by Charlotte Chorpenn and will be directed by John Kerr.

Miss Loeffler stressed that not only drama majors but the general student body is eligible to try out for the shows. Copies of the plays are on file in the Reserve Book Room.

SJS To Represent India At Model UN Sessions

SJS was selected to represent India at the Model U.N. to be held at San Francisco State College this spring, Jim Starrs, International Relations Club president, announced yesterday.

The college was chosen from among 10 schools in the Pacific Coast division of the Collegiate Council for the United Nations applying to represent the country.

Eighty schools in the Pacific Coast area from Alaska to as far south as Mexico and including Hawaii will participate in the meeting tentatively set for May 4, 5, 6 and 7.

The Model U.N. General Assembly is slated to meet in the San Francisco War Memorial Opera House where the U.N. Charter was signed, Starrs said that President Dwight D. Eisenhower has been invited to speak at the meeting.

Starrs pointed out that any student may apply to be on the team representing SJS. Particularly wanted are students who are experts in their fields of study in the social sciences, he emphasized.

Interested students may sign up for the team in the offices of Dr. Jackson T. Main and Dr. George Bruntz, Starrs said.

Starrs described participation in the Model U.N. as a "dynamic challenge."

APhiO's Book Exchange Nears New Sales Record

Alpha Phi Omega is nearing a quarter sales record at its book exchange now open in the Student Union, Ed Spencer, exchange chairman, said yesterday.

So far there has been a great demand for books at the exchange run by the national service fraternity. For many texts there are more buyers than sellers, he said.

KEEN Show To Cover Reg

The turmoils that face students during registration will be featured on a special radio program this Sunday at 6 p.m. over station KEEN, according to Bob Shehtanian, vice-president of the SJS Radio-TV Guild.

Interviews conducted with freshmen, transfer students and seniors will be heard on the show, he said. The interviews are unrehearsed.

The show is the first in a series of "public appeal" programs to be presented over KEEN with an emphasis on current events and student opinions. Sunday's show will be aired by the Radio-TV Guild.

At the book exchange, students buying books pay two-thirds of the original cost of the text. The student who sells a text through the exchange will receive two-thirds of the price he paid originally for the text minus a 10 cent service charge, Spencer said.

He also stressed that students wishing to buy at the exchange must know the author and title of the books they want as the exchange does not have a list of the texts for courses offered this quarter.

The exchange is scheduled to be open Monday through Friday until Jan. 14. The hours are 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and 1 p.m. to 4 p.m., Spencer announced.

SJS Opens CBA Schedule Tonight

Giving away several inches in height at every position, the San Jose State Spartans will open their California Basketball Association schedule tonight against the COP Tigers in Stockton.

The CBA clash will be televised over Channel 13 at 8 p. m.

San Jose Coach Walt McPherson expects to return to the starting five that has carried the brunt of the work this season, after having experimented with a taller quintet in the Marquette game last week.

McPherson feels that although the team of Bud Hjelm, Tor Hansen, John Erceg, Carroll Williams and Bob Bondanza isn't as tall as the Tigers, the team's balanced scoring will challenge COP.

According to McPherson, the Spartans put together their two best games in bowing to the Marquette five and downing Washington University of St. Louis.

In the Washington contest, the final game of the mid-west tour, the Spartans showed their staunch defense of the season.

Pacific Coach Van Sweet leaves no doubt about how he feels about this year's Tiger squad. At the Northern California Basketball Writers' luncheon in San Francisco Monday, Sweet called his team the best that has ever played for COP.

Sweet admitted the Tigers have yet to prove it on the floor. In the Tigers five-game Christmas jaunt through the mid-west, they dropped five straight games to Duquesne, Louisville, Dayton, Cincinnati and Western Kentucky.

Tonight's game will match the scoring punch of San Jose's Carroll Williams against that of COP's Clyde Conner. In the Spartans' eight games, Williams has averaged 17.4 points per game while Conner has hit 12.5 per tilt to lead the Tiger's scoring in 10 games.

Hjelm and Hansen of the Spartans each have 11.9 averages while John Thomas, COP's sensational sophomore, is scoring at a rate of 11.7 points per game.
